Hospice of Southern Maine's priority is to protect the health and wellbeing of our patients, visitors, and employees. In light of the COVID-19 (Coronavirus), Hospice of Southern Maine is taking steps to keep everyone safe. We have advised those who are ill or exhibiting COVID-19 symptoms not to visit patients; educated employees on how to keep themselves safe while effectively performing their jobs; and advised employees to stay home if they meet any of the CDC risk guidelines. In addition, we are proactively monitoring updates from the U.S. and Maine Centers for Disease Control and Prevention for any additional news that will help keep our patients, visitors, and employees safe and healthy.
