

How to Cook Lobsters!

- Fill the lobster pot with about three inches of water.
- Add one handful, approximately 1/4 – 1/3 cup of salt.
- Bring the salt-water mixture to a boil.
- Add lobsters.
- Once the water returns to a boil the lobsters will take approximately 20 minutes to cook. They are done when they are red and when one of the antennae comes out easily with a quick tug.

Pro Tip! If you are cooking the lobsters on a campfire it may take extra time to return the water to a boil after you have added the lobsters.

 For optimum taste remove the rubber bands before cooking
